The Waukesha Expo Center once again played host to one of Wisconsin's most venerated antiques events - the Thirty-ninth Annual Wisconsin Antique Dealers Association Winter Show. WADA is one of the oldest antique trade associations in the nation, founded way back in 1948. Since then, generations of collectors have benefited from the integrity of the members of this organization. Here, you can shop with confidence from the scrupulously vetted displays of more than fifty-five dealers at this two-day, must-see event.

There was much to love at Kentucky's Antiques, Art, & Treasures, from an elegant Handel slag glass chandelier ($2,400) to this oil-on-canvas western landscape by Taos artist Ralph Goltry - 30" x 24" and priced at $2,600. 270-237-5205

My Scandinavian furniture favorite at the show: this colorful dated-1806 hanging from ML Fancy Antiques, 20" x 36" and priced at $1,800. 612-723-8768

Out & About

Wanted to pass along a couple of notes, one from an advertiser and two from subscriber's.

Dear Michelle, Brian and all at Auction Action Antique News.

Thank you for the superb work that you did for promoting our 11th Annual Antique Sporting and Collectible Show. We receive the best feed back from your publication and that is why the majority of our advertising budget goes to your paper. You are extremely easy to work with and the ads are always attention getting, along with the press release that you run at no extra charge, helps my advertising budget.

The post article that Brian does for your paper on our shows is always helpful advertisement for the following years show. You are a main factor for the show being so successful.

Sincerely, Dennis Gauger

Dear Sir or Madam, I wanted to pass along a note to your auctioneers. We used to receive your paper on Friday's. Now we receive them on Saturday. We understand that the paper is not considered late, but sometimes the auctions are on that same weekend. We were wondering if you could pass this message along to your auctioneers to encourage them to advertise earlier. We do not own a computer and therefore do not have quick access to the internet.

Thanks very much, a loyal subscriber.

A long time subscriber David and Esther M. and family. We LOVE this paper and we find out about a lot of good auctions from AAAN. Please auctioneers, it pays for you to advertise with AAAN. Many times, if the auction wouldn't have been advertised in AAAN my family and I wouldn't have known about some auctions.

Thank you AAAN, your paper is the best.

When Out and About this weekend, be sure to check out:

Surprising Finds at the Thirty-Ninth Annual WADA Winter Antiques Show

Article & Photos by Brian Maloney

It's now been thirty-nine years that the Wisconsin Antique Dealers Association has been putting on this winter-edition antiques show. That's quite an accomplishment in itself, but you have to remember that this show is a relative newcomer to the WADA show schedule. The original WADA Fall Antiques Show will be celebrating its sixty-second anniversary later this Year! There can't be too many other antiques associations around that can make that claim.

And in those six decades, WADA has done much more than just hold antiques shows. As a non-profit organization dedicated to preserving the State's past heritage, WADA has a long history of providing grants to historical and heritage societies throughout the State, including the Friends of the Wisconsin Historical Society. This year's WADA Grant to the Friends will be used to fund restoration of artifacts at Lake Geneva's Black Point Estate, the 1880s retreat of prominent Chicago brewer Conrad Seipp.

WADA is also continuing its founding sponsorship of the "30th Star Benefit Antiques Auction," a biennial fund raiser held at the Wisconsin Historical Society's Old World Wisconsin Historic Site. And while the next "30th Star" auction is still a year away; donations of vintage and antique items are already being accepted. Just give Riene (262-363-4700) or Debbie (815-575-1272) a call for all the details, or visit www.friendswisconsinhistory.org.

All of the WADA shows are held at the Waukesha Expo Center, just a short drive west of Milwaukee. It's a great show site - right off the interstate, with lots of free parking. Inside, the dealers can spread out among the three well-lit adjacent halls of the Forum Building. It's those dealers, of course, that are the reason that folks have been coming to the WADA shows for so long. And with more than fifty-five dealers at both the fall and winter editions of the event, you're almost sure to find something to love.

And while the WADA Show is best known for classic Americana, you'll now find purveyors here with everything from fine estate jewelry to vintage toys and advertising. Like at Yesterday's Memories, whose booth was filled with, well, pretty much anything you could imagine. My favorite there: a tiny Merriplay salesman's sample swing set, asking price $395. Or at Ugly Rick's Collections, where the inventory ranged from early pressed steel trucks to a choice group of soda fountain syrup dispensers.

Fine art more your thing? There was much to choose from all over the show, from a western landscape by Taos, New Mexico artist Ralph Goltry (at Antiques, Art & Treasures, $2,400) to the swinging '60s portrait of a young woman I found at Hunters Lake Antiques - a watercolor by noted Milwaukee artist Karl Priebe.

The fine art display at Ron Christman Antiques & Art never disappoints either, with a focus on works by Wisconsin and regional artists. From all-original vintage lighting at Aladdin Lamps to art glass of every era at Jeff Durst Antiques, you're going to find it here in quantity, and more importantly, quality.

I look forward to every WADA Antiques Show. Each dealer has something different to offer, whether it's that special antique you've been hunting for, an impromptu history lesson, or stories of the treasures they've found (and lost) over the years. If you missed this show, be sure to mark your calendar with the dates of the fall edition of the WADA Show. It also takes place right here at the Waukesha Expo Center, on the first weekend in October. For 2013, that would be October 4th and 5th. You can find more information (and a discount admission coupon) at their website www.wisconsinantiquedealers.com. And as always, keep an eye out for all the WADA Antiques Show listings in the Auction Action Antique News!

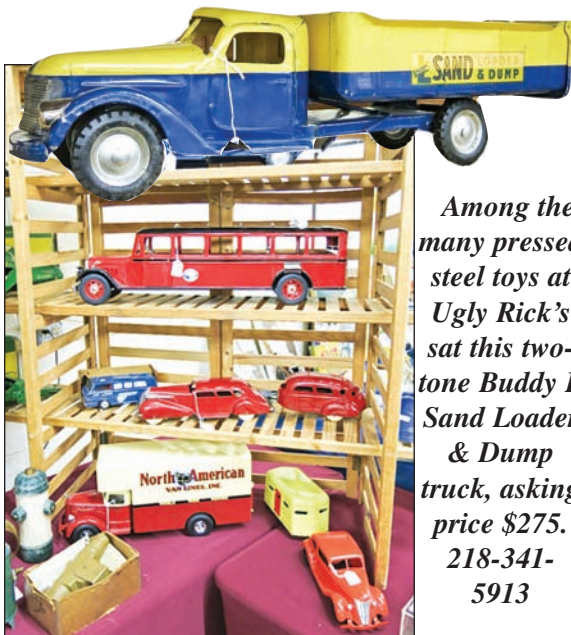

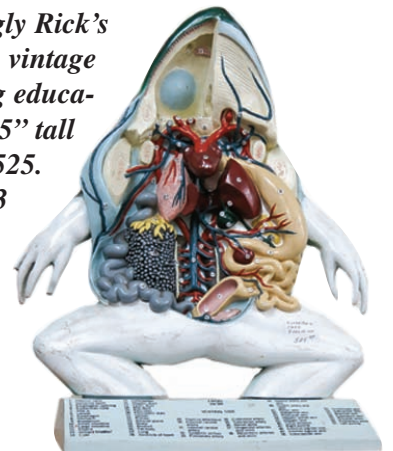

I found this tiny Merriplay salesman's sample swing set (with pen for scale) at Yesterday's Memories, asking price $395. 262-352-2335

Patented-1857 new-old-stock Daguerreotype Union Case with original advertising insert, from Yesterday's Memories - $125. 262-352-2335

Oddities at Ugly Rick's included this vintage Dissected Frog educational model, 15" tall & priced at $525. 218-341-5913

Among the many pressed steel toys at Ugly Rick's sat this two-tone Buddy L Sand Loader & Dump truck, asking price $275. 218-341-5913

Two choice soda syrup dispensers from Ugly Rick's: the Green River example (with original etched glass jug) priced at $725, the Mah-Tay dispenser (also with original faceted jug) at $695. 218-341-5913

Treasures at Scott Rizer Antiques included this exceptionally-stenciled wooden wheelbarrow ($595) and dated 1886 schoolhouse bell - $229.

From Hunters Lake Antiques, a watercolor portrait of a young lady by noted Milwaukee artist Karl Priebe, the image measuring 8 1/2" x 10" - $850. 262-965-2797

Aladdin Lamps brought a wonderful display of period Aladdin lamps all with original shades, like this rare 1951 Hop-A-Long Cassidy (Model G-335-C, $1,200) and 1950 G-322 Rose Alacite lamp with 805 shade - $150. 414-748-0008

Diane Carey of Aladdin Lamps came with a wonderful selection of their huge lifetime collection of vintage examples with their rare original shades. 414-748-0008

Toy enthusiasts were spoiled for choice at Hunters Lake Antiques, who brought along a just-acquired collection of lead soldiers by the dozen, plus a choice group of Tootsie Toy vehicles. 262-965-2797

Two rare Pauline Pottery (Edgerton, Wisconsin) pieces from Pipsqueak & Me Antiques: the 6 1/2" x 8" vase priced at $475, the 10" ewer at $900. 608-295-7240

Best of the restored 19th century furniture at Pipsqueak & Me Antiques: this Renaissance Revival walnut bookcase measuring 48" x 90" - $2,900. 608-295-7240

I found this absolutely pristine 19th century shadowbox floral art piece at Midwest Antique Gallery, 24" x 28" and made completely of feathers - $275. 920-651-1551

Steve Virste of Antiques, Art, & Treasures lends scale to an impressive vintage Murano Glass fish sculpture, asking price $2,200. 270-237-5205

A sea of art glass filled the display of Jerry's Antiques, including a nice selection of pattern glass goblets starting at $40. 563-340-1871

A trio of tiny country stools from The Rock Step Antiques, priced from $125 to $195. 608-574-0957

Two cast iron cats from ML Fancy Antiques: the rare doorstop with Walter A. Zelnicker Supply Co. advertising priced at $9,500, the three-piece Shepard's Hardware paperweight at $650. 612-723-8768

I found this unusual flax wheel at Yankee Pedlar, with three memorial plaques on the frame: one a lock of hair, and two carved bone plaques dated 1850 and 1869 - $495. 608-604-0493

I found a fine assortment of Victorian cranberry glass pickle casters at Jeff Durst Antiques, many with extensive floral enamel-work. 612-715-2458

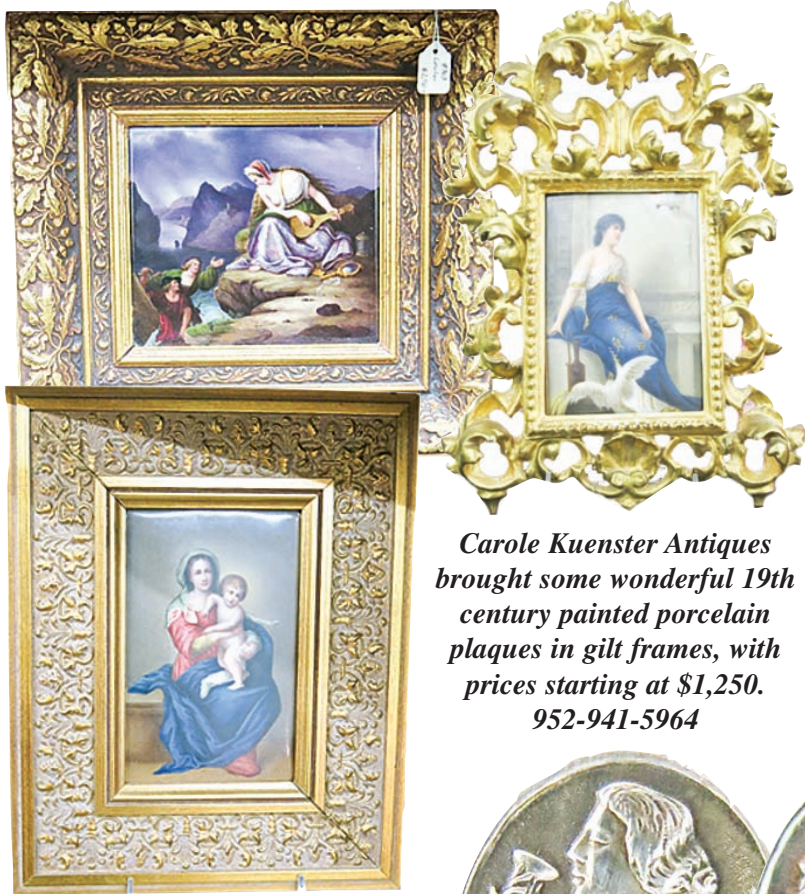

A corner at Ron Christman Antiques & Art - the British Tetley tavern sign priced at $695, the wooden High and Dry sign also at $695. 262-968-4913

Yankee Pedlar brought, and quickly sold, this unusual figured maple shaving stand with beveled mirror. 608-604-0493

Carole Kuenster Antiques brought some wonderful 19th century painted porcelain plaques in gilt frames, with prices starting at $1,250. 952-941-5964

Atglen P.A. — This is the first book devoted entirely to the vast array of wonderful animal sculptures and decorative items produced by Freeman-McFarlin Pottery, located in California from 1951 through 1980. This book contains over 480 vivid photos and vintage catalog pages, interviews with former employees, and a price guide. Also included in this story are the overlapping histories of other California Potteries owned by Gerald McFarlin prior to his partnership with Maynard Anthony Freeman, including Tudor Pottery, Rio Hondo, and McFarlin Potteries. The early years are defined by cute miniature animals and plain-looking pottery. Once the partnership flourished, the animals and tableware became larger, bolder, and much more innovative. The history includes two factories, a devastating fire, the sale of the company to International Multifoods of Minnesota, and ultimately, the sale to Hagen-Renaker, a well-known California Pottery, in 1980.

Nancy Kelly has been a California Pottery collector for many years, and has enjoyed meeting the wonderful people responsible for creating these amazing items. To have the privilege of researching and writing about them has been a dream come true.

Book Description

Weapons of Warriors is a photographic study containing many of the most renowned, prestigious, and historical Arabic and Turkish swords from the 12th through the 19th century. Every sword is professionally photographed at the studio, in the highest resolution and correct color. Each weapon is presented in multiple angles, many at actual size across two pages to provide the reader with the most detailed appreciation of the skill, craftsmanship, and artistry involved in the hand crafting of these famous Shamshirs, Kilics, Nimchas, Yatagans, and Saifs. The Askeri Military Museum of Istanbul, Turkey, has set a new standard in international art and cultural exchange by opening its entire collection to the authors. The museum staff provided every assistance to be certain that their most magnificent and important weapons were photographed for this study. The museum director of edged weapons even took the time to pen an essay (included herein) on the Turkish Yatagan. Working with the authors was an international team of writers from Germany, India, and Egypt who provided additional information on the science behind these historically significant blades, traditional "koftgari" decoration, as well as the translation of ancient passages that adorn the edged weapons in this study. This beautiful book is produced for everyone who loves the lore and lure of edged weapons, whether they are beginning students, historians, collectors, or connoisseurs of these most artistic and deadly weapons of warriors.

From Toys to Advertising to Petroliana at Matthews 3 Day Auction in Raymond, IL

Article & Photos by Matthews Auctions, LLC

The three-day event was held Feb. 15-17, in Raymond, at the gallery of Pope Auction Center.

The sale was conducted at the gallery of Pope Auction Center in Raymond, with whom Matthews Auctions often partners. Headlining the event was an exceptional group of antique toys and signs from the Joe Russell estate out of New York City. The toys in particular were of high quality and in excellent condition. A smaller New York toy collection was also offered.

The Feb. 15-16 sessions also featured many fine advertising and petroliana (gas station) signs – categories for which Matthews Auctions has become renowned in the industry over the years. But on Feb. 17, decorative arts took center stage. These consisted mainly of art pottery, early American pattern glass, Pickard china and other items. The portrait vase was in this group.

“Day three was a bit of a departure for us, and it may have taken some folks by surprise that we were offering decorative arts at all,” said Dan Matthews of Matthews Auctions. “But the items were very well received, and I want this to be a signal that we’re more than just gas station collectibles and advertising signs. That’s still our bread and butter but now we’re branching out.”

Around 70 people attended the auction live, while another 450 registered to bid online, through Proxibid. Many absentee bids were fielded, to go with a handful of phone bids. “It was a good sale, with robust bidding throughout,” Mr. Matthews said. “The crowd was mainly toy buyers, who were happy to be bidding on the mostly medium-to-upper quality merchandise.”

Following are additional highlights from the auction. All prices quoted include a 10 percent buyer’s premium.

Another portrait vase also did well in the Feb. 17 decorative arts session. That one was a Roseville Rozane vase, 14 1/2 inches in height, showing a man wearing a hat and artist signed “A. Williams.” Like its cocker spaniel counterpart, this example was in great shape, with no chips, cracks or repairs. It was marked “Rozane RPCo” on the bottom and changed hands for $1,265.

Two pump plate signs took place and show honors for the auction. The first was a Husky Tri-Power porcelain pump plate sign with dog graphics, 12 inches by 12 inches, rated 8.9 out of 10 for condition, with strong gloss ($2,310). The other was a Pacer 400 porcelain pump plate sign with ethyl logo, 14 inches by 9 inches, with great color and gloss, rated a robust 9 ($1,815).

Two other lots managed to top the $1,000 mark. One was a Zerolene (“The Standard Oil for Motor Cars”) single-sided porcelain sign, 6 inches in diameter, with fabulous color and gloss, rated 8.9 and showing only minor wear in the mounting holes ($1,045). The other was an Iroquois Chief single-sided porcelain convex sign with Indian Chief graphics, rated 9+ ($1,350).

Matchbox Major Caterpillar Earthmover (#M-1), die-cast, new in the box, rated 9.5 ($275).

Japanese-made Space Ship X5 tin litho friction drive toy, 12 inches long, rated 9 ($495).

Highlights from the toys category included a Strauss “Ham and Sam the Minstrel Team” tin litho wind-up toy, 8 inches tall, rated 8.75, in good condition with an operational motor and only minor wear at the joints from routine use ($660); and a Japanese X-5 tin litho friction drive space ship, 12 inches long, rated 9, in good condition. It went to a determined bidder for $495.

A Sports Land Japanese tin litho windup Cardinal ride, 5 1/2 inches tall, rated 7, showing wear but with a working motor, changed hands for $440; an All-Stars Mr. Baseball, Jr. tin litho battery-operated toy, showing Mickey Mantle, 7 1/2 inches tall (no baseballs) went for $413; and an Arnold “Mac 700” tin litho windup motorcycle with rider, 7 3/4 inches long, rated 9, hit $468.

Tops in the advertising signs category was a Diamond Horseshoes Calks single-sided tin embossed sign in a wood frame, 36 inches by 24 inches, with superb graphics and in great shape with only minor wear, marked Donaldson Art Sign Co, Covington, N.Y. ($1,705). Also, a metal Penny toy ship with two stacks, 4 3/4 inches long, in very good condition, rated 9, went for $319.

Rounding out just some of the sale’s top lots, a Chein Hercules Royal Blue Line (“Coast to Coast Service”) tin litho bus, 18 inches long, rated 7.9, in good condition and with a straight body, having only minor paint damage and rust, rolled off for $633; while a die-cast Matchbox Major Caterpillar Earthmover #M-1, new in the box, rated 9.5, 4 inches long, topped out at $275.

Matthews Auctions’ next big sale is right around the corner: a Feb. 28-Mar. 1 event to be held in Peotone, Ill., prior to the start of the very popular Chicagoland Petroliana & Advertising Show, held twice a year in Peotone. Mr. Matthews said this auction could well be his biggest sale of the year, one filled with high-value petroliana and advertising signs – truly exceptional items.

Then, on Wednesday, Apr. 3, Matthews Auctions will conduct an online-only auction, featuring 250 lots of toys (many of them automobile-related) and gas station collectibles. Items already consigned include a Marx Sunnyside gas station with the original car, Wyandott and Japanese tin litho toys and Metalcraft examples. It will be a timed event, set to begin closing at 6 p.m., with a staggered ending. Watch the website for more details: www.matthewsauctions.com.

Mr. Matthews has written a book about petroliana, titled The Fine Art of Collecting Petroliana. For information on how to order a copy, please log on to the Matthews Auctions, LLC website, at www.matthewsauctions.com. Florida – The old saying that every season has a reason, seems to be spot on when it comes to people looking to purchase antiques and collectibles. The Asheford Institute of Antiques (AIA), a professional-level, distance learning program on antiques and appraising, recently released the results of an in depth survey it conducted on market trends in the antique business, which it compiled from students and former graduates.

The primary focus of the survey was to gauge interest in current trends of antiques and collectibles, based on sales and requests for particular items. And while no measurable scientific practices were employed, and the survey was informal in nature, the results were still quite interesting, said the schools publications Director, Tony Drew. "What we found was that there was a real generational shift in the marketplace, things that tended to "trend" upwards in a truly noticeable fashion, were much more the domain of younger buyers. Whereas items that seemed to have little or no Internet "buzz," remained fairly stable in their position of relative interest to potential customers, and were more often purchased by older buyers." In other words, said Drew, "Younger consumers seemed to be setting the trends as to what was hot and what was not – some what unusual occurrence in the world of antiques."

Don Kirpatrick, a 20-something dealer in the Northeast who participated in the school survey, said that while he still looks at everything when attending auctions for inventory, he now concentrates more heavily on items like Art Deco, and early primitives. "My clientele is primarily younger-hipster folks who want things from these periods, they're not looking for mid-Victorian pieces that are heavily decorated..." Staffers from the school who conducted the survey said this was a common theme they found when asking about what was selling. "Younger dealers had very different items and inventory when compared to older dealers," said Shirley Huey, one of the staffers who helped complete the survey, "Not only were they different in inventory, but in their marketing approaches as well."

Charles Green, current Director of the Institute, also noted that while 20 years ago most antiques stores often had a "little bit of everything," today's dealers tend to concentrate on items based on generational interest. "I think what we're finding, said Green, "is that bricks and mortar antique businesses are beginning to be more representative of what you see in online stores... a far greater degree of specialization is taking place, and the age of both the dealer and the customer seems to have something to do with that."

Green went on to stress that while the survey was by no means scientific, it still pointed out interesting trends within the today's antiques marketplace.
