Extraordinary Pieces Cross the Block at Connot Brothers Auction

This nice settee set brought a high bid of $1,750.

Article & Photos by Connot Brothers Auction

When the May De Beel estate asked us, Connot Brothers Auction of Valentine NE, to facilitate their sale, we could not have been more thrilled or honored. As May De was an avid collector of a very wide variety of antiques ranging from glass items to large furniture. From the beginning, we knew this sale would take at least two days, if not more. The advertisement for this sale went all over Nebraska and to collectors all over the United States, also countless other people and places through social media. This sale was the talk of the town.

This carved snake settee set sold for $3,000.

Out & About

We hope that everyone has a Happy and Prosperous New Year from all of us at Auction Action Antique News.

Christmas break was nice for all of us, but we are glad to be back to work. The kids are ready to go back to school. I think more because that first weekend is their Snowball Dance. Mekenzy had something everyday for hockey except Christmas day. She even had a tournament in Beloit, Wisconsin called the Snowball Shootout. The rink had tarp walls and was very cold. They took third place even though they won all their games, it was a point based tournament. Kenzy played one out of the three games, which had many break aways that she had to stop. Brandon had four games over the break, although he lost them all, he played very well. He is getting more into the play of the game and has become more physical. He is a built like his father, strong and muscular, so coaches like how he is built like a tank. They keep telling him to use that to his advantage.

The kids had a fun filled Christmas. Santa Clause fulfilled most of their Christmas list. They had a fun this year, as it was different with Zetti. He went with us to get our tree & loved every minute of the hunt. He even loved eating the tree, which you found him doing often. You could also find him around the presents, which he loved to open.

Union, Illinois' Wild West Town Hosts Amazing Donley Auctions' Fall Classic 300

Article & Photos by Brian Maloney

Donley's Wild West Town. If you're a little kid you probably think of it as an old west theme park, complete with shoot-em-ups and pony rides. Grown-ups might like it more for its popular South Union Roadhouse Restaurant, or its 10,000 square foot Banquet Hall. History buffs probably enjoy the Wild West Museum, with displays of cowboy, mining, and Civil War artifacts - or for its world-class collection of antique phonographs.

Of course, antique music-machine collectors know it very well as the host of the world's largest Antique Phonograph & Music Box Show, held there for nearly two generations. And now it's also the home of what's quickly becoming one of the region's premier auction houses: Donley's Auction Services.

This November 16th Donley Auction Fall Classic 300 was their biggest and best sale to date, with consignments ranging from classic cars and choice period advertising to that amazing 19th century Soda Fountain & Drug Store interior.

And it was worth the trip just to see it. The circa-1890 Mt. Washington Drug Store & Soda Fountain, originally located in Haverhill Massachusetts, boasted the most elegant retail store fixtures of the day. The store remained operating and intact for nearly one-hundred years. Upon closing, the interior was disassembled, sold, and remained in storage for two decades. The lot included all four walls of the original 1890 cabinetry and soda fountain, two showcase top ice cream tables with swing out stools, and a seven flavor marble soda fountain syrup dispenser made by Charles Lippincott & Co. of Philadelphia.

And quite to my surprise, every piece was reassembled for the auction, filling an entire outbuilding and manned by a uniformed soda jerk. I think the bidders for this prize realized they'd probably never see another opportunity like this one, with the eventual winner paying $170,000 for the group.

An exceptional collection of antique and vintage motor vehicles found ready buyers too, with an early Harley-Davidson motorcycle leading the pack. The 1917 Harley amazingly was all-original with only minor paint touch-ups, having remained under the ownership of one family for more than ninety years. In running condition despite never having been restored, it roared off to the tune of $47,500.

Another unusual early vehicle was the winner among the motorcars, and it barely qualified for that description. It was a 1907 Lindsey Dart Horseless Carriage. Typical of the era, it looked more like a buggy than an automobile, and was powered by a small two-cylinder air-cooled engine. This was one of only six existing examples of the model known, was in running condition, and drove off for a solid $17,000.

There were countless other auction highlights, from a $12,000 1932 Buick Coupe to a Seeburg Model KT Nickelodeon that made a cool $10,000. And if you missed this sale, don't worry - there are plenty of Donley Auction events coming up soon in 2014. First will be an auction of period military artifacts on January 12th, followed by a sale of circus and sideshow memorabilia on February 8th and 9th. March brings an offering of original cartoon art, and in April the Spring Classic 300. Just visit www.donleyauctions.com for all the details.

And whether there's an auction to attend or not, Donley's Wild West Town is definitely worth the trip. During the summer season, the kids will love Wild West Town itself, where they can be deputized and help round up the desperados. Or learn to rope from a real cowboy - even witness a shootout in the town square. It's geared towards the pre-teen crowd, something founder Larry Donley insists will never change. There's also an outdoor Wild West stage show that'll appeal to wanna-be cowboys of all ages. And the South Union Roadhouse Restaurant (open year 'round) and world-class Old West and Antique phonograph museums ensure that the older folks will have a great time too. Be sure to check out their Website www.wildwest-town.com, or give them a call at 815-923-9000. They'll help you plan an old-fashioned day-trip for the whole family. And as always, keep an eye out for all of Donley's Auction Service's events in the Auction Action Antique News!

Gone Wild for Manatee Gift Adoptions!

Adopting real Florida manatees for family and friends this Holiday season is nature-inspired, thoughtful gift-giving that helps Save the Manatee Club increase conservation and education efforts for the endangered marine mammals and their aquatic habitat. It also helps holiday shoppers stretch those often limited budgets.

Last year, Lisa Cartossa from Holt, Missouri, decided that since her two young nieces, Lily and Rose from North Carolina, were fortunate enough to have most everything they needed, she would adopt manatees as Christmas presents for them. Lisa chose adoptees "Paddy Doyle" and "Flash," who regularly winter at Blue Spring State Park, from Save the Manatee Club's Adopt-A-Manatee program. All of the manatees available for adoption can be viewed on the Club's website at <http://www.savethemanatee.org/adoptees.htm>. Two new manatees recently added to the list of adoptees are from Alabama, "Zewie" and "Bama."

An annual manatee adoption costs $25, which is just a little over $2 a month, and includes a color photo of a real manatee, an adoption certificate, biography, membership handbook, and subscriptions to the Club's newsletters which feature updated reports on the manatees in the adoption program. Shipping is free within the United States. Gift adoptions are sent with a personalized holiday message. Or for a $35 tax-deductible donation, each new member will also receive Save the Manatee Club's 2012 wall calendar, featuring spectacular manatee photos to enjoy all year and well past.

"When my nieces received their adoption packets for Christmas, I was told you could not have heard two children screaming with excitement louder than they were," said Lisa. "Immediately, the manatees' pictures went on their walls. They knew about manatees, but Save the Manatee Club's adoption program created this passion and enthusiasm in them that's very wonderful for me as an adult to be part of. I can't tell you how thrilled my nieces are to get the newsletter addressed personally to them. They read every word front to back. Who knows, the Club may have just created the next generation of marine life specialists dedicated to the conservation of these wonderful creatures."

Save the Manatee Club, a national nonprofit organization, was co-founded thirty years ago by singer/songwriter Jimmy Buffett. Funds from the Holiday gift adoptions help with manatee rescue, rehabilitation, and release efforts; research; education and public awareness projects; conservation work to protect manatees and their habitat; and for programs in the United States, Central and South America, the Wider Caribbean, and West Africa. Manatees are listed as endangered at the state, federal, and international levels.

Patrick Rose, aquatic biologist and Executive Director of the Club, points out that manatees face tremendous challenges to their survival from human activities. "In Florida alone, since record-keeping began in 1974, more than 38% of manatee deaths where cause of death is known were human-related. So it is imperative that we continue to educate the public about the presence of manatees in our waters. Adopting a manatee is a great way to learn more about this beloved species and how to help make a difference in their lives."

Find out more information about manatees and Holiday gift adoptions by contacting Save the Manatee Club at 500 N. Maitland Ave., Maitland, FL 32751, or calling 1-800-432-JOIN (5646), or visiting their web site at www.savethemanatee.org, where you can also sign up for the Club's free E-Newsletter. Also, discover a variety of manatee items in the Club's gift catalog at <http://www.savethemanatee.org/shop/>.

Turquoise Jewelry, Native American Beaded Items, Vintage Toys & Furniture Among the Fantastic Finds at Connot Brothers Auction

Article & Photos by Connot Brothers Auction

Buffet $1,750.

With much of the family's help, we spent hundreds of hours packing trucks and trailers, unloading boxes, and doing it all over again. There was anticipation from everyone to see just how much stuff there was. When people asked how much there was, we just told them, 'you wouldn't believe it'. Sorting the items was a non-stop process. Our three buildings were packed full. Items for the second day were organized underneath the tables for ease of setup Saturday night. Once the advertising was out, we had many phone calls with questions on a variety of items.

By the time the sale days came, we were prepared to have two rings running at all times – and that's exactly what happened. We had a crew of 25 people to make it work. Saturday went just as planned – the main building sold the glassware, lamps, and other collectables, and the secondary building sold the vintage clothing, hats, blankets and dolls. The sale lasted from 9 am to 6 pm. The second day went smooth as well, however, for a couple hours we had three auction rings going at once – which is a new record for us! The second day was a full day also lasting from 10 am to 7 pm. The most exciting moments came when we sold the turquoise jewelry, Native American beaded items, vintage toys and the furniture. No one was day dreaming when those items sold!

We were very privileged to have had the opportunity to sell such an amazing collection of items. This sale brought buyers from near and far, as well as many spectators to take-in this once in a lifetime event.

This auction was held at the Connot Brothers Auction facility in Valentine, NE on October 19th and 20th 2013.

Society for Old Ivory and Ohme Porcelains

The Society for Old Ivory and Ohme Porcelains is an organization of collectors and dealers who admire and collect Old Ivory and Ohme Porcelains. The purpose of the Society is for the members to share information and educate themselves and the public about the history and beauty of these porcelains, promote the collecting of Old Ivory and Hermann Ohme porcelains, and to develop communications between those who collect these porcelain items.

The SOIOP website is clean looking and traditional looking in keeping with the character of the collecting area the Society represents. The homepage has representative photos of Old Ivory and Ohme porcelain pieces plus a side navigation bar.

There is a section on the history of Old Ivory and Ohme porcelains and some excellent segments with photos covering the types of porcelain, patterns and marks.

The site's sections on the Society, itself, and on their annual convention is almost secondary. This is an excellent reference site for both collectors and dealers, or for that person who just happens to own a piece of Old Ivory or Ohme porcelain and wants to know a little more about it.

Musical Box Society International

The Musical Box Society International is a non-profit organization dedicated to the enjoyment, study and preservation of all automatic musical instruments. From its modest beginning in 1949, MBSI now numbers several thousand members with representation in each of the 50 states and 19 other countries.

The MBSI website at www.mbsi.org is easy to navigate and understand. Visitors to the site will find a great deal of helpful information about automatic musical instruments. There is a large museum section showing various museums and repositories that have automatic musical instruments and a huge listing of manufacturers of these instruments. We particularly enjoyed the Photo Gallery. Twenty-five musical instruments are shown and by clicking on a button by each picture you can actually hear the automatic musical instrument playing. For members there is a large library for borrowing related books and also a MBSI Store. The Society's chapters are listed and an Events Calendar features the annual convention as well as chapter events.

The section on how to become a member is easy to understand and complete. Anyone visiting this site and spending some time here who has an interest in automatic musical instruments should end up at this section and join!

Top Of The Class Kicks It Up

The staff of Illinois State University's annual Top of the Class Antiques and Vintage Show has kicked up the production a few notches for this year. Not only will the show have its full contingent of 42 quality antiques dealers, but they've added some star power to this year's edition by featuring Paul Brown, owner of Atlanta's Gallery 63 and star of Discovery Channel's Auction Kings.

Scheduled for January 31 and February 1-2, 2014, the show will feature 42 vendors from six mid-western states. Many customers have rated this show as "One of the best in Illinois." And, with the addition of Paul Brown, the show promises to be more exciting than ever. Brown will be present on Saturday for appraisals, autograph signings, and discussions. Show co-manager Beverly Jennings said, "Paul is a very energetic, enthusiastic, and knowledgeable antiques and vintage expert who will add an exciting dimension to the show." Auction Kings ran for a number of years on Discovery Channel and the series is often re-shown on other cable channels.

Top of the Class also acknowledges the recent explosion of the vintage collecting world. While defining vintage and Mid-Century Modern can be challenging, the show will offer a wide variety of antiques and items from the 1700s up to the 1950s. The accent will remain on top quality items with the dealers promising to bring their "best of the best" to the show.

Madcat Antiques from Waterloo, Iowa, will be displaying toys as well as political and advertising smalls dating from the 1800's up through the 1960's. Country at Heart from Marseilles, IL and Blue Goose Antiques, Normal, IL will feature early American primitives including 1700's-1800's samplers, cabinets, bowls, early pine furniture, and fine crockery. Annie's Antiks, Peoria, IL, will have a large selection of quality advertising including signs along with lighting and furniture. Circa of Milwaukee, Wisconsin will be bringing a wide collection of Mid-Century Modern items including kitchen and decorating.

Dovetail Joint Antiques, Columbus, Ohio and Nigel Russell Antiques, Missouri, will carry Royal Dolton character jugs, art glass, and figurines. A Touch of Heaven, Chicago, features estate, fine, and costume jewelry. Others are bringing American glass, art pottery, early porcelain, silver, buttons, marbles, and movie memorabilia. Postcards will be abundant with at least three vendors showcasing them.

The show is a benefit for the students of the School of Communication at Illinois State University. Show hours are Friday, January 31, from 5:00 - 8:00 p.m., Saturday, February 1 from 10:00 to 5:00, and Sunday, February 2 from 10:00 to 4:00. Admission is $5 and is valid for all three days.

The show will be held in the ballroom of the Bone Student Center, on the ISU campus. Free parking is available in the faculty lot directly west of the student center. Handicap parking is available in the circle drive next to the building. The Bloomington/Normal community is in the center of Illinois, at the cross-roads of Interstates 55 and 74.

For additional information, please visit the web site: www.topoftheclassantiques.com which offers driving directions, a list of vendors, and other show materials. You may also email dkjenni@ilstu.edu or phone 309-838-7080.

Arts Group Publishes Guide to Northwest Wisconsin Arts, Growers, Heritage

Written and submitted by Harriet Rice

In the small towns, villages and along the rustic roads of northwestern Wisconsin are some of the state's most valuable assets: creative human beings who nurture beauty, value nature and share their heritage through places, objects and edibles that are handmade and homegrown.

Now there's a brand new paperback guidebook published by the Wisconsin's Northwest Heritage Passage: 208 pages that shine a light on these places and people who live and work along and around the Highway 63 corridor in 13 northwest Wisconsin counties.

It's called The Wisconsin Passage: an Adventure in the Handmade, Homegrown and Historical Offerings of Wisconsin from the Mississippi River to the Lake Superior, or simply, The Wisconsin Passage. The book is the culmination of a dream that began 12 years ago when a group of northwest Wisconsin people like Spooner weaver Alene Peterson realized that the cottage industries of working crafters, artists, growers were key to a sustainable "creative economy" in this region.

Peterson and a committee of five - all volunteers -- began by establishing a set of criteria. "We were looking for locally made or grown items, quality products, interesting destinations, environmental responsibility, openness to the public, and safety," said Peterson.

Each of the 350 listees in the book submitted written descriptions of their studios, galleries, farms, museums, and other arts, agricultures or culture-related businesses. Committee members visited each site, providing feedback about their experiences. Others collected and worked with submitted images or took photographs themselves.

Janet Krokson of Spooner was the book committee's muse who gathered the descriptions, historical facts, anecdotes, and other materials, weaving them into a narrative that makes the book an entertaining read as much as a travel guide.

Editor of the Spooner Advocate and life-long resident of the area, Krokson said, "It was a labor of love. I've lived in Highway 63 communities for the past 31 years," she said. "I love Wisconsin, and I particularly love this part of the state."

She continued, "I think of The Wisconsin Passage as a passage to more passages - to bygone days, to an adventure that anyone can take part in. It's about artists, artisans, performers, nature lovers, natural growers, pioneer settlers and storytellers of many genres who forged a life and culture along the heritage roads and trails."

Peterson added, "We want this book to bring the public together with artists and growers where they live and work and showcase those hometowns, villages and farms as well as the natural beauty of northwest Wisconsin destinations for travelers of all ages,"

The WNHP was founded in 1999 as an arts support group dedicated to supporting, showcasing and educating the public about the talents and creativity of northwest Wisconsin's communities. In 2001, 2004 and 2009, WHNP published and distributed more than 100,000 foldout maps listing handmade, homegrown and heritage sites. The Wisconsin Passage replaces those maps as a more permanent testament to the thriving creative economy in northwest Wisconsin.

There is no commercial advertising in the book. Production was funded by memberships, in kind and cash donations from businesses and private citizens through "Friends of the Passage." Proceeds from sales of the book will be used to update and publish future editions.

Following the initial book launch on August 27 at Northwind Book & Fiber in Spooner, additional launches are planned in each of the 13 counties in the coming months. The Wisconsin Passage may be purchased at Northwind Book & Fiber, 205 Walnut Street, Spooner, and online at www.heritagepassage.com, where there will be a list of other retail outlets selling the book. The WNHP is supported in part by the Wisconsin Arts Board. For additional information, call 715.635.9303, or email winhp@centurytel.net.

Florida – The old saying that every season has a reason, seems to be spot on when it comes to people looking to purchase antiques and collectibles. The Asheford Institute of Antiques (AIA), a professional-level, distance learning program on antiques and appraising, recently released the results of an in depth survey it conducted on market trends in the antique business, which it compiled from students and former graduates.

The primary focus of the survey was to gauge interest in current trends of antiques and collectibles, based on sales and requests for particular items. And while no measurable scientific practices were employed, and the survey was informal in nature, the results were still quite interesting, said the schools publications Director, Tony Drew. “What we found was that there was a real generational shift in the marketplace, things that tended to “trend” upwards in a truly noticeable fashion, were much more the domain of younger buyers. Whereas items that seemed to have little or no Internet “buzz,” remained fairly stable in their position of relative interest to potential customers, and were more often purchased by older buyers.” In other words, said Drew, “Younger consumers seemed to be setting the trends as to what was hot and what was not – some what unusual occurrence in the world of antiques.”

Don Kirpatrick, a 20-something dealer in the Northeast who participated in the school survey, said that while he still looks at everything when attending auctions for inventory, he now concentrates more heavily on items like Art Deco, and early primitives. “My clientele is primarily younger-hipster folks who want things from these periods, they’re not looking for mid-Victorian pieces that are heavily decorated...” Staffers from the school who conducted the survey said this was a common theme they found when asking about what was selling. “Younger dealers had very different items and inventory when compared to older dealers,” said Shirley Huey, one of the staffers who helped complete the survey, “Not only were they different in inventory, but in their marketing approaches as well.”

Charles Green, current Director of the Institute, also noted that while 20 years ago most antiques stores often had a “little bit of everything,” today’s dealers tend to concentrate on items based on generational interest. “I think what we’re finding, said Green, “is that bricks and mortar antique businesses are beginning to be more representative of what you see in online stores... a far greater degree of specialization is taking place, and the age of both the dealer and the customer seems to have something to do with that.”

Green went on to stress that while the survey was by no means scientific, it still pointed out interesting trends within the today’s antiques marketplace.

For readers seeking more information about the survey or the schools antiques and appraisal course, they can be contacted at: (877) 444-4508 or visit their web site at: www.asheford.com. Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association 40th Winter Antiques Show in Waukesha, Wisconsin to Benefit Grants & Scholarships

The Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association, founded in 1948, is a non-profit organization dedicated to preservation & education within Wisconsin.

Funded by admissions charged at their October and February antiques shows, their Association awards scholarships and grants annually.

Waukesha County high school seniors recently submitted entries for the Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association's annual scholarship competition. Winners for the 2013-2014 school year will be announced in January, 2014 and the awards will take place at their 40th Winter Antiques Show, held February 7 & 8, 2014, in Waukesha.

Wisconsin historical groups that received WADA grants in 2013 are:

- The Friends of the Wisconsin Historical Society: WADA continues as the founding sponsor of FWHS's "30th Star Benefit Antiques Auction" to be held at Old World Wisconsin April 26, 2014. Important funding provided by WADA was used to restore a painting of Mrs. Conrad Seipp at Lake Geneva's 1888 Black Point Estate, the summer retreat of Conrad Seipp, a wealthy Chicago brewer.

In an additional show of support, WADA is providing a free booth at their February 7 & 8 Antiques Show to the Friends of the Wisconsin Historical Society in an effort to encourage donations of items more than 50 years old for April's "30th Star Benefit Antiques Auction".

- The Price County Historical Society: WADA pledged funding to aid in a major painting and maintenance project to begin in Spring, 2014 at the Old Town Hall Museum located in Fifield, Wisconsin.

To learn more about the Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association's grant & scholarship opportunities along with their many other endeavors promoting Wisconsin's history, visit their website at www.WisconsinAntiquesDealers.com.

Show your support and help promote history by attending their antiques show Friday, February 7, 11 am - 9 pm and Saturday, February 8, 10 am - 5 pm at the Waukesha County Expo Center, 1000 Northview Road, Waukesha (a Milwaukee suburb), Wisconsin 53188. A free educational exhibit, "Native Americana", will be available to all attendees. A traditional Wisconsin fish fry (baked fish also available) will be served Friday, late afternoon and evening. As always, there will be five drawings for $50 gift certificates. There's plenty of free parking and an ATM is on the premises. Questions? (414) 510-4441 or visit
